

Calouste

Regular • Italic • Հայերէն

Calouste is a contemporary digital typeface created by Miguel Sousa as part of the Master of Arts in Typeface Design at the University of Reading. Its design is inspired by the old style roman typefaces of the late Renaissance, featuring an oblique axis, modest contrast and modulated strokes.

Despite following these qualities and conventions to some extent, Calouste departs from them by incorporating modelled serifs and terminals. Although these do not derive directly from the pen stroke, they carry a pleasant calligraphic feeling and add smoothness and fluidity to the letterforms.

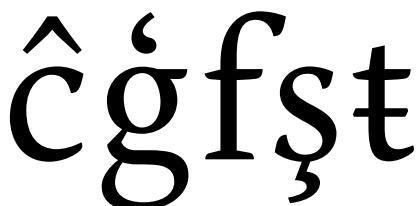

Capital height is lower than ascender height. This helps to balance the perceived size of the capitals in comparison to the lower case, especially in small text settings and particularly in languages with a higher frequency of caps, like German. Furthermore it allows the necessary space to correctly place diacritics, which in some instances have a steeper angle in the lower case.

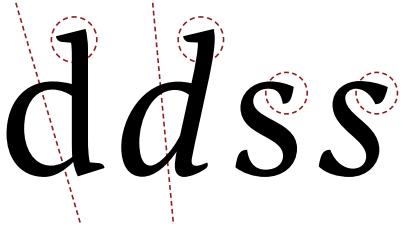

Two typefaces have somehow influenced the development of Calouste: Minion & Dolly. From the first it acquired its formality, and from the second it captured its liveness. The result is a balanced easy-to-read type design, that might feel conventional and modest at first glance, but is fairly alive and distinct once seen closer.

In sum, Calouste is a discreet yet competent — two characteristics which probably reflect its designer personality — all-purpose text typeface that incorporates a calligraphic flavour. It was initially intended for composing office documents (letters, memos, general correspondence, reports), but will comfortably set long texts in small type sizes (8-14pt) in various languages.

Calouste's italic variant is a subsidiary design to the roman and closely linked with it, without being subservient. The calligraphic qualities, already present in the roman, are emphasised in the italic, giving it an even more dynamic and vivid feeling.

aaff

It is a true italic in the sense that, in comparison with the roman, it's slightly lighter in colour, condensed and has alternate letter shapes. In short, it's not simply an inclined roman. Calouste Italic uses an average slope angle of 12°, which makes it comfortable and unobtrusive to read in long text passages, while being distinctive enough from the upright variant. Deeper cuts and smoother connections help to enhance the flow of the strokes.

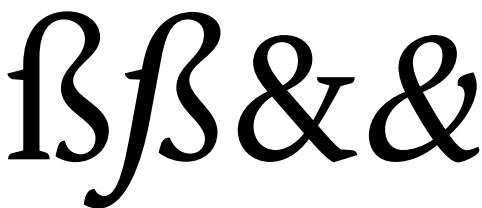

hhyy

The wider repertoire of terminals, in-strokes and out-strokes present in the italic, make it a more interesting and graceful design than the roman. Nevertheless both variants share sufficient characteristics to be recognised as elements of the same type family.

XXZZ

The elegant design of Calouste Italic is characterised by an overall formal appearance and uniform rhythm that emulates the motion of the pen in italic writing. However this evenness is deliberately, though scarcely, broken with embedded features in the typeface.

ßß&&

Although significantly different in structure, Calouste Italic harmonises beautifully with the roman variant, making it suitable for complex text settings. Being clearly distinct and expressive, it can also be simply used on its own, giving a warmer, delicate and, eventually, feminine touch to the page. All in all, Calouste Roman & Italic definitively have a Southern-European spicy flavour that can bring some interest to a rather dull printed document.

Calouste Armenian is the non-latin counterpart of the roman variant. It is an independent and uncompromised design, informed by each script's specific typographic (and calligraphic) legacy. Nevertheless there is a visual harmony between the two and thus, when setting a bilingual text, none will overpower the other. The result is a page with an even colour, due to the careful balance of both script's weight, design features and perceived size.

The design of Calouste Armenian was highly inspired by the works of Fred Africkian (1), Hayk Gortsakalyan (2) and Henrik Mnatsakanyan (3). Many digital and non-digital Armenian typefaces were also examined closer during the development process. These elements, along with the analysis of reproductions of Armenian manuscripts from the 9–19th centuries, constituted the main resources. The font was also submitted to the appreciation of native readers, who gave very positive and constructive feedback, not only on the overall design but also on specific details. This definitely played a crucial role in the design process, making it more interesting, interactive and enlightening, which is reflected in the final output.

The initially unfamiliar Armenian alphabet, proved to be an extremely interesting and challenging type design task, paying off all the work and adversities encountered along the way.

Why Calouste?

Calouste Sarkis Gulbenkian was descended from an illustrious Armenian family whose origins go back to the 4th century.

He was born in Scutari, Istanbul on 23 March 1869, and spent most of the first part of his life in the Middle East and the latter in the West, mainly in London (1897–1920), Paris, and finally in Lisbon (1942–1955), his last home.

Besides his role as a pioneer in the oil trade and his passion for art, Gulbenkian was above all Armenian and proved this extensively, by helping several Armenian communities.

Prior to his death, he laid-out the roots for what latter became the Fundaçao Calouste Gulbenkian, a foundation for charitable, artistic, educational and scientific purposes, based in Portugal, which he made the beneficiary of his entire fortune.

Cinema

€ 38 900

Em 2003, o Serviço concentrou a sua actividade distributiva na área do cinema no apoio a jovens cineastas, para a realização de filmes de carácter experimental sobre temas de arte, destacando-se os subsídios atribuídos ao Laboratório de Cinema Experimental da Universidade Nova de Lisboa, que coordenou os projectos de produção em vídeo dedicados à personalidade e obra dos artistas plásticos António Sena, Carlos Nogueira, Daniel Blaufuks e Francisco Tropa, os quais, ao longo do ano, apresentaram o seu trabalho, em exposições individuais, no CAMJAP. Por outro lado, e tendo como objectivo contribuir para a divulgação do cinema português no estrangeiro, foram concedidos apoios à realizadora Inês Oliveira para participar no Festival de Curtas-Metragens da Noruega, em Grimstad, com o seu primeiro filme O Nome e o N.I.M. e à Associação Eira, na qualidade de co-produtora da 2.ª edição do Festival Europeu “Temps d’Images 2003” de Paris, que apresentou filmes e projectos teatrais de autores portugueses, belgas, italianos e alemães.

Bolsas de estudo de especialização e valorização profissional € 589 791

Iniciada em 1957, na sequência da realização da 1.ª Exposição de Artes Plásticas da Fundação Calouste Gulbenkian, a acção que visa a atribuição de bolsas de estudo de especialização, investigação e valorização profissional, no país e no estrangeiro, tem-se mantido, com grande visibilidade, ao longo dos anos e tem permitido premiar a obra e o trabalho de artistas, investigadores e profissionais portugueses, proporcionando-lhes a oportunidade de desenvolver e actualizar os seus conhecimentos e, ao mesmo tempo, distinguir jovens talentos em início de carreira. Esta acção, que contempla as diversas áreas da actividade do Serviço de Belas-Artes, tem sido reconhecida unanimemente pelo papel que tem desempenhado no desenvolvimento e enriquecimento da vida artística e cultural do país.

Ao concurso aberto em 2003 apresentaram-se 330 candidatos, o que constituiu, de facto, o maior número de pedidos desde sempre recebidos no âmbito deste concurso. As candidaturas envolveram propostas em todos os domínios da competência do Serviço:

Arquitectura e urbanismo	61
Artes plásticas, design e gestão das artes	128
História da arte, estética e património	49
Arqueologia	10
Teatro	28
Cinema	31
Museologia e conservação	23

O Júri do concurso, constituído para apreciação das candidaturas, integrou especialistas dos quadros da Fundação e outros exteriores aos mesmos, tendo sido emitidos pareceres sobre todas as propostas. Elaborados os orçamentos das propostas seleccionadas e tendo em conta as disponibilidades financeiras para este concurso, veio a ser aprovado o plano das novas bolsas para o ano lectivo de 2003-2004, num total de 35, com a seguinte distribuição:

Nas duas temporadas parcialmente abrangidas pelo ano de 2003, mantiveram-se inalteradas as grandes linhas de fundo que têm vindo a reぐer, nos últimos anos, a intervenção da Fundação Calouste Gulbenkian nos domínios da música e da dança.

Assim, privilegiou-se uma vez mais a manutenção dos agrupamentos artísticos residentes da Fundação — o Ballet, o Coro e a Orquestra Gulbenkian — como instrumentos primordiais dessa intervenção, tendo em conta o carácter único e insubstituível da oferta artística destes conjuntos no panorama artístico português, para a qual continua a não existir qualquer alternativa viável, quer pública quer privada. A Orquestra, o Coro e o Ballet Gulbenkian têm vindo a reforçar, ano após ano, a sua imagem nacional e internacional de excelência, multiplican-demic degrees on the graduates of this newly established engineering school, it only agreed on the condition that the examination be presided over not simply by Van Ceulen and Van Merwen, but also by the university professor in mathematics Rudolf Snellius (1546–1613). Once again, we know next to nothing about the early years of this school of engineering. The fact that after their deaths, that is in 1615 both Van Ceulen and Van Merwen were succeeded by Frans van Schooten sr. (1581?–1645), does seem to imply that Stevin's initiative had proved its worth. From the little that we know about the courses in mathematics given in the arts faculty by Van Schooten and Rudolf Snellius' son Willebrord (1580/1581–1626), it looks as though there was close co-operation between the mathematicians of the school of engineering and the university. Willebrord Snellius, for instance, published on such eminently useful and typically 'Batavian' subjects as cartography (Erastethenes Batavus, 1617) and navigation (Typhus Batavus, 1624).*

Vóór 1565 vermeldde het overzicht 10 kunstenaars, drie goudsmeden en zeven jouueurs (speellieden). Zij aten mee, maar over salaris en status is niets bekend. De kunstenaars werden beschouwd als behorend tot de chambre van Anna van Saksen, de drie goudsmeden hadden de licencié-status van inkomsten.

§2.2.3. Uitgavenpatroon van het hof. Rond 1560 schatte de meestal goed geïnformeerde Granvelle dat Willem's jaarlijkse inkomen rond de £ 200.000 lag, waar een vermogen van ongeveer 4 miljoen voor nodig was. Hier tegenover stonden zware schulden, die in 1560 geschat werden op £900.000. In 1569 ging de helft van Willem's inkomen naar de aflossing van zijn schulden. Een uit 1569 daterende schatting van Spaanse zijde van de mogelijk te realiseren inkomsten uit de in 1567 van Willem geconfisqueerde goederen komt uit op een totaal van £152.784 12s 4d. Dit cijfer werd door Alva in 1569 doorgegeven aan Philips II met de schatting dat de jaarlijkse lasten drukkend op deze goederen £98.366 beliepen. Daarmee zou zijn besteedbaar inkomen rond 1565 £54.419 geweest zijn. Dat Willem's vermogenspositie aan Spaanse zijde erg optimistisch ingeschat is, blijkt wel uit het meerekenen van inkomsten uit Orange en Bourgondië en het opnemen van een geschatte som van £20.000 die per jaar naar Anna van Lotharingen als weduwe van Chalon ging onrust die

— Como vê, todos temos no nosso interior os elementos necessários para produzir fósforo. Mais ainda, deixe-me dizer-lhe uma coisa que não confiei ainda a ninguém. A minha avó tinha uma teoria muito interessante, dizia que embora todos nasçamos com uma caixa de fósforos no interior, não os podemos acender sozinhos, precisamos, como na experiência, de oxigénio e de ajuda de uma vela. Só que neste caso o oxigénio tem de vir, por exemplo, do hábito da pessoa amada; a vela pode ser qualquer tipo de alimento, música, carícia, palavra ou som que faça disparar o detonador e assim acender um dos fósforos. Por momentos sentir-nos-emos deslumbrados por uma intensa emoção. Dar-se-á no nosso interior um agradável calor que irá desaparecendo pouco a pouco conforme passa o tempo, até vir uma nova explosão que o reavive. Jeder einzelne muß herausfinden, welche seine Lungen sind, um leben zu können, denn die Verbrennung, die bei jeder Zündung entsteht, spendet der Seele Energie. Mit anderen Worten liefert diese Verbrennung Nahrung für die Seele. Entdeckt man nicht bei Zeiten die eigenen Auslöser einer solchen Zündung, werden die Streichhölzer feucht, und wir können sie nie mehr entzünden. Sollte es soweit kommen, flieht die Seele aus unserem Körper, irrt durch tiefste Finsternis auf der vergeblichen Suche nach Nahrung, ohne zu ahnen, daß allein der Körper, den sie wehrlos und ausgekühlzt zurückgelassen hat, diese Nahrung bereithält.«

Como eram certas aquelas palavras! Se havia alguém que soubesse isso era ela. Infelizmente, tinha de reconhecer que os seus fósforos estavam cheios de mofo e humidade. Ninguém podia voltar a acender um.

Das schlimmste war ja, daß sie sehr wohl ihre Lungen kannte, doch jedesmal, wenn es ihr gelungen war, ein Streichholz in Brand zu setzen, hatte man es ihr unerbittlich wieder ausgeblasen.

Als könne er ihre Gedanken lesen, bemerkte John:

— Por isso é preciso mantermo-nos afastados de pessoas que tenham um hábito gélido. Bastaria a sua presença para poder apagar o fogo mais intenso, com os resultados que já conhecemos. Je mehr wir uns von sol-

Apple Fritters

1¾ cups sifted flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon butter
3 tablespoons sugar
3 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups apple, diced

Sift flour and baking powder. Then add milk and blend until smooth. Cream butter with sugar and add egg yolks. Add to flour and milk. Stir in diced apple. Beat white of eggs to frothy consistency. Then add to batter, mixing thoroughly. Heat chafing dish pan over direct heat until piece of white paper turns brown as it touches the bottom of the pan. Melt butter in pan. Spoon out batter size of a walnut, and drop into hot pan. Brown on both sides until fluffy and thoroughly done in center. Dust with cinnamon-sugar and serve with tiny hot sausages.

Sonhei comigo

*Sonhei comigo esta noite
Vi-me ao comprido
Deitada
Tinha estrelas nos cabelos
Em meus olhos madrugadas
Sonhei comigo esta noite
Como queria ser sonhada
Senti o calor da mão
percorrendo uma guitarra
De longe vinha um gemido
uma voz desabalada
Havia um campo de trigo
um sol forte me abrasava.
E acordei meio a sonhar
procurando-me encontrar
Quando me vi ao espelho era teu o meu olhar.*
